THE GREENSBORO TELEGRAM

ESTABLISHED IN 1897. GREENSBORO, N. C., SUNDAY MORNING, JUNE 11, 1911. VOL. 14. NO. 269.

MEMORIAL SERVICE OF LOCAL FIREMEN

Members of Greensboro Fire Department to Hold Annual Service in Honor of Deceased Comrades —Rev. E. K. McLarty to Deliver Annual Memorial Sermon.

This morning at 11 o'clock at West Market Street Methodist church the annual memorial service of the Greensboro Fire Department will be held, the annual sermon to be preached by Rev. E. K. McLarty, pastor of the church. Throughout the State of North Carolina on the second Sunday in June the various fire departments meet to pay honor to the memory of deceased comrades.

The exercises in Greensboro will be simple, but nevertheless impressive. In many cities elaborate programs are carried out, but the firemen of Greensboro desire as simple a service as possible. There will be a special program of music for the service and the pastor will preach a special sermon.

The firemen will meet at the hall of the Steamer Company at 10:30 o'clock and march in a body to the church. In this connection the following notice is published:

Every member of the Greensboro volunteer fire department is urged to meet at the hall of the Steamer Fire Engine Company, No. 1. This (Sunday) morning at 10:30 o'clock promptly, to attend in a body the annual memorial sermon, which will be delivered by Rev. E. K. McLarty, pastor of West Market Street M. E. church, at 11 o'clock. If you are a member it is your duty to be on hand promptly at the above hour.

All ex-members of the fire department are most cordially invited to meet with us at the Steamer Hall at 10:30 o'clock and go with us to the church.

GOT $10,000 BECAUSE HOG WAS KILLED

Special to Telegram.

Atlanta, Ga., June 10.—J. D. Debow, of Nashville, has just been awarded $10,000 by the jury in his case against the Shreveport and Pacific Railroad. The suit was to recover damages in the sum of $20,000 because of a hog belonging to the plaintiff being killed while being transported over the lines of the defendant. The hog killed by the railroad was of high pedigree and was valued by Debow at $20,000.

PERJURY CASE IS STILL IN PROGRESS

In United States court in the case of government vs. Sidna Allen the evidence was concluded at 11 o'clock yesterday and the argument to the jury began. Assistant Attorney A. L. Coble made the first speech, after which Messrs. Tipton and Wood of counsel for the defense, spoke. The concluding arguments will be made Monday morning by J. C. Buxton, counsel for the defendant, and A. E. Holton, for the government. Judge Boyd will then deliver his charge and the case will be given to the jury shortly after noon.

The case has attracted considerable attention, owing to the unusually large number of witnesses for the government and the vigorous fight waged by counsel on both sides. Allen is charged with swearing falsely while on the witness stand in federal court last June, at which time he was on trial on the charge of counterfeiting. His accomplice, Preston Dickens, pleaded guilty and assumed the entire blame, Allen assisting materially in shifting the responsibility on Dickens, and after making a closer investigation the government discovered that his testimony was untrue.

In Superior Court.

The case of H. F. Starr vs. the Southern Bell Telephone Company occupied all of yesterday in Superior court. The completion of the case was not reached and it was carried over to Monday morning.

At the meeting of the trustees of the Peabody Normal College, of Nashville, Tenn., last week, Dr. Bruce Payne, was elected as president of this institution, his term of office to begin in two years. The school, which formerly was conducted as a branch of the University of Nashville, will be closed for two years while extensive building improvements are being added. When the school is reopened it will be conducted for the training of teachers for normal colleges throughout the South, being the only institution of its kind in the South. Dr. Payne, who has been placed at the head of this institution is a North Carolinian, being a brother of Max T. Payne and Mrs. J. Ed Albright, of this city.

SOUTHERN AND FIREMEN REACH AGREEMENT.

Washington, June 10.—The dispute between the Southern Railway Company and its firemen which has been in mediation for the past two weeks has been settled on a basis satisfactory to both sides. Each side, it is said, made concessions but what they were no one of those interested would say.

Mexico Is Now the Scene of More Disorder Than at Any Time During the Recent Revolution.

The signing of the peace treaty seems to have been a signal for greater disorder throughout Mexico than prevailed during the recent rebellion. There have been disturbances in a number of places, and in the City of Mexico the lawlessness appears to have been at its worst. Larger death lists are reported than in most of the actual battles of the revolution. Brigands who fought in the Madero cause are now showing up in their true light, and looting and sacking have been frequent.

CONTRACT SIGNED FOR WORK ON MATTAMUSKEET RAILROAD

Work of Completing This Road Will be Pushed by Those Who Have Procured Control of Enterprise—Guilford Man Pardoned by Governor.

Raleigh, June 10.—There was duely signed and sealed today a contract between the Governor and Council of State and Gilbert H. Gilbert of New York, representing New York capitalists, with Charles L. Abernathy as attorney for a corporation that interests represented by Mr. Gilbert will form to take up the work of the equipment of the Mattamusket Railroad in Hyde county and operating it as a speedily as possible. The people of Washington and Beaufort and Hyde counties are to meet certain conditions as to terminals, right of way in so that the early completion of this important Eastern Carolina enterprise may be had, in which the State has invested heavily through convict labor for the grading of the road. A cash bond of $50,000 was put up today as a guarantee to the State that the road will be equipped and operated in good faith. The road is 105 miles and extends from Washington around Lake Mattamuskeet and from Fairfield to Burgess' Mill and Rosebay.

Monday, June 12, is the day set for a session of the Corporation Commission at Lexington for the purpose of hearing the matter of requiring the Southern Railway Company to construct an over-pass for its main line there. It is a contest that has been on between the citizens and the railroad company for quite a while.

On June 13, the Commission will be at Rutherfordton for the purpose of looking into the matter of requiring the location of a union station. Then there will be a session at Saluda June 15 to decide as to requiring the removal for the present railroad station to a more convenient location and the provision of additional side track facilities. Chairman McNeill and Commissioner Lee will most probably make this trip, Commissioner Brown remaining in Raleigh to take care of the routine business of the commission.

Governor Kitchin granted a pardon today to Joe Andrews, Guilford county, serving twelve months in the county workhouse, the sentence being to the work house on account of his physical condition. He stole some paint while under the influence of drink. This was last September. Since his imprisonment he has painted the buildings at the work house and saved thereby over three hundred dollars to the county.

Sale of leaf tobacco on the North Carolina markets during May were 157,778 pounds, compared with 1,300,893 pounds during May, 1910. Winston-Salem led again with 107,030 pounds, only seven of the markets having any sales at all during the month. The other six were: Reidsville, 27,166; Durham, 11,446; Madison, 4,555; Stoneville, 2,940; Mebane, 2,038; Mt. Airy, 2,603.

W. C. Norris, prominent merchant of Raleigh, his firm being M. T. Norris & Bro., has been seriously stricken with paralysis, his right side being affected, the arm and face most seriously.

It is officially stated that all probability of any contest involving the recent championship rifle range shoot here by the teams from the three companies of the North Carolina Guard that made the highest scores in the regimental shoots at Raleigh, Goldsboro and Gastonia is past. There had been exceptions to men shooting whose enlistments had expired and not been renewed, but it was found thatthis was the case with all three of the teams that participated. It is the intention of the officers to guard against this condition, simple negligent oversight on the part of the company officers in keeping the enlistment of their men up to date, in future, by requiring the captains to furnish to the Adjutant General a list of say twenty men from among whom the team will be chosen. These will be examined as to the enlistment dates and other conditions. The original protests in the recent shoots here involved the Asheville and the Lumber Bridge teams but it was found that the Raleigh team was also deficient in this respect. So the Dupont trophy cup that was won in the regimental shoots by the Raleigh company and generally put up again for a championship shoot here, will go to the Lumber Bridge Company.

Assistant Attorney General G. L. Jones has just made a ruling for the Department of Education as to the reversion of property that has been condemned for school purposes and the right of the school authorities to deed this property in fee simple to parties other than the owner from whom it was taken by condemnation. He holds that good title can be shown for the reason that the law provides that where condemnation has to be resorted to the school trustees get title in fee simple and property so held can be conveyed. This question has arisen in Gates county, but is one that may develope in most any part of the State under the present activities of consolidation and changes of school districts.

MILLION

Copies of Lorimer's Self Defense Speech Will be Distributed in Illinois.

Special to Telegram.

Chicago, June 10.—Senator Lorimer is having printed from a Chicago house a million copies of his speech delivered in the Senate in selfdefense.

It was reported that these were to be distributed throughout Illinois under Lorimer's frank, but this has been abandoned. Lorimer will either pay postage or his friends will distribute the copies of the speech.

If Lorimer is unseated as a result of the new investigation or resigns it is believed that he will make an immediate appeal to his constituents for political rehabiliation.

Special to Telegram.

New York, June 10.—Lillian Graham and Ethel Conrad will be examined Monday on the charge of shooting W. D. Stokes. The victim of their shots is rapidly recovering. It has developed that the girls purchased their revolvers from Wanamakers on May 31. GOVERNMENT AFTER HARVESTER TRUST

Department Experts Working to Secure Evidence Against Officials For Civil and Criminal Prosecutions — Investigations Commenced Year Ago.

Special to Telegram.

Washington, June 10.—A year ago the department of justice investigated the International Harvester Company quite actively for three months. It then dropped the work with the statement that the actions against other corporations interferred.

It was found, however, that the affairs of the International Harvester officials were strongly interwoven with the beef trust and it was deemed best to push the suit against the packers first. Now with the beef trust suit well under way, it is stated that department experts are again working on the harvester affair with a view to both civil and criminal prosecutions against the officials of the trust.

TWO DEATHS FROM HEAT IN CHICAGO.

Chicago, June 10.—A temperature of 100 degrees was predicted as today's high record in Chicago by government forecaster Cox when the mercury registred 93 at 10:30 a. m. If Asheville proposes to make a practice of dumping the stuff in the French Broad river, there will undoubtedly be a rush of settlers to the section along the river below Asheville, who will go there for the purpose of drinking the French Broad water.

The most damaging charge thus far made against Governor Judson Harmon, of Ohio, is the statement that his presidential candidacy is favored by Governor Blease of South Carolina. Governor Harmon has a good record, however, and by more hard work he may be able to down the influence of this unfortunate incident.

Senators Bailey and Simmons voted for Senator Root's amendment to the Reciprocity Bill. No other Democratic Senators voted for the Root amendment. It is evident that Bailey and Simmons are being influenced by the company with which they have been associating for some time.

Richmond, Va., has invited ex-President Diaz to make that city his home. Down to date no invitation of that nature has been extended to Diaz by Atlanta, Ga. This is evidence of the fact that the numerous press agents of the last mentioned hamlet are all enjoying summer vacations.

Colonel John Temple Graves, formerly of Atlanta, Ga., but the cadences of whose mellifluous notes now woo New Yorkers to follow the standard of William Randolph Hearst, has indicated that he approves the candidacy for the Democratic nomination for President of Speaker Champ Clark. Unfortunately, Mr. Clark is not at present in a position where he can have much to say in the selection of those who are to espouse his cause.

TOM JOHNSON VINDICATED.

The late Tom L. Johnson of Cleveland, Ohio, was branded as visionary by alleged practical business men and by others who did not approve of his views in regard to matters of public concern. A host of these opposed Johnson's fight for three cent street car fares in Cleveland, and he was finally defeated for Mayor because of this opposition and the fact that numbers of the people in whose interest he was fighting tired of the warfare and deserted his standard. Johnson was branded as a dreamer by some, as a demagogue by the bitterest among his enemies. There was no more reason in the first than in the last charge. Johnson was a successful business man and made a large fortune before he was imbued with the idea of service to his fellow men. His success as a business man was sufficient refutation of the charge that he was a visionary dreamer. Johnson's honesty was never questioned by those who were closest to him or by those who were really acquainted with the man and his purpose.

At last Johnson's position in regard to three cent fares has been vindicated, but it is a sad feature of the success of the movement which he started and maintained for years, that success came but a few weeks after his death. Doubtless Johnson would have passed away supremely happy if he had lived to see the ultimate triumph of the movement. Cleveland now has three cent fares and Tom Johnson has been vindicated and cleared of the charge of being visionary. The charge of being a demagogue is not worth noticing. Speaking of the success which has attended the efforts to place the street car business of Cleveland on the basis for which Tom Johnson fought, the Norfolk Landmark says:

"The theory of Tom L. Johnson that street cars could be operated in Cleveland on three-cent fares has been definitely vindicated. Mr. Johnson failed by a few weeks to live to see the final triumph of an idea for which he fought so long and vigorously. Not only is it possible to ride on a street car in Cleveland for three cents but transfers are issued on the fare, and if desired a transfer on a transfer.

"Cleveland has one of the best systems in the country. The agreement between the city and the street railway company permits the company to pay a six per cent dividend on its stock and five per cent interest on its bonds. Should the receipts of the company under the three-cent fare not be sufficiently large to permit those payments, the company is privileged to increase the fare. It must be decreased when the surplus is sufficiently large to meet the dividend and interest charges. Until recently the fare was three cents with the charge of an extra cent for transfers.

"The wages of motormen and conductors of the Cleveland street railway are better than the wages of any other workingmen of their class in the world. The Petersburg-Index Appeal thinks that a monument should be erected in Cleveland to the memory of Tom L. Johnson, taller than any other now in that city, but even now there is a more imposing one to his memory—the three-cent fare."

WILL BE DAMAGING TO CLARK'S BOOM.

Richmond Times-Dispatch believes the approval of the candidacy of Champ Clark by William R. Hearst will effectually stifle the Clark boom. For once the Times-Dispatch seems to be right. Heart's advocacy may not utterly destroy Clark's chances, but it certainly will not add to his strength and the net result will be injurious to the Speaker's cause.

Hearst has not openly avowed his intention of supporting Clark, but a story was published in the newspapers a few days ago to the effect that John Temple Graves, one of Hearst's editors, had called on Speaker Clark in Washington and assured him of the support of Hearst.

WHAT CHINESE ARE WORTH AT WHOLESALE.

The value of a citizen of the Celestial Empire has been estimated by his country, and Mexico will be given an opportunity to concur in the estimate or reject it. China will demand $6,000,000 for the death of 303 Chinese subjects who were killed at Torreon, Mexico, by the insurgents. That is nearly $20,000 per head and probably a larger valuation than the world has been accustomed to placing upon John at wholesale. However, it is said that a number of very prominent and wealthy Chinese were killed at Torreon, and on the whole the figures may not be too high.

The killing of the Chinene at Torreon was an outrage and the Chinese government expects to collect something on that score. Taking that view of the matter the demand for six million dollars is probably reasonable.

THE ROOT AMENDMENT TO THE RECIPROCITY BILL.

Senators Simmons and Bailey, Democrats, voted for the Root amendment to the Reciprocity Bill when the vote on that amendment was taken by the Finace Committee of the Senate. They were the only Democrats voting for the Root amendment. The vote on the question of the adoption of the Root amendment was as follows:

For the amendment: Senators Lodge, Smoot, Gallinger, Clark, Heyburn and LaFollette, Republicans, and Bailey and Simmons, Democrats.

Against the amendment: Penrose, Cullom, McCumber, Republicans; Stone, Kern and Williams, Democrats.

Senator Johnston, Democrat, of Maine, was absent from the committee when the vote was taken.

The Root amendment provides that there shall be no free exchange of wood pulp and paper products under agreement until the export tax on wood pulp imposed in certain provinces of the Dominion has been removed.

The Root amendment was passed in disregard of the wishes of President Taft, who desired the Reciprocity measure to go through without being amended. Condemnation of the Root amendment has been severe in every quarter where the adoption of the Reciprocity agreement is favored, and The Philadelphia Record characterizes the movement as a "Black Hand" attack on the Reciprocity Bill. The Record says:

"The Black Hand in the Senate has done just what there have been warnings that it would do in the Finance Committee; it has made a change in the bill to put the reciprocity agreement into effect. The measure may be rescued, and we believe it will be, by the full Senate, where the Black Hand element constitutes a smaller fraction than it does of the membership of the committee; but the stab that has been inflicted is a serious one, most serious because it shows what the Black Hand element is capable of.

"Root was selected at a council of the Black Handers to wield the stiletto. He was elected because he was eminently respectable, has on several occasions given some indications of a capacity for political liberality, and commands a larger measure of the public confidence than some of the Senators who have been caught red-handed in acts of legislative violence or have been convicted of parliamentary sandbagging.

"The Reciprocity bill, passed by the House, has been kept in the private custody of the Finance Committee till the conspiracy for its destruction could be perfected, just as in the Middle Ages the infant heir was locked up in the Tower ostensibly for his protection, but actually to await the completion of a conspiracy to do him to death.

"The fine Italian hand of the pensive and intellectual looking Senator from New York wielded the dagger fashioned out of wood pulp. If it had been Smoot or Gallinger or Heyburn or any other bravo the country would have instantly cried out with horror. But it was Root. Well might the bill exclaim, if it had voice enough, "Et tu, Rute?"

YOUR REAL ENEMY

It is a greater power than that. The one puny, feeble personality which you are disposed to blame as your "enemy" has but slight control over your life and affairs. The "enemy" is by far a more important force.

It is a chronic habit with many individuals to blame ill luck on a personal "enemy" and to hinge the "blue" the "vapors" and the ill successes on the supposed evil machinations of some one person. There are believers in a personal devil as there are believers in a personal God, and there is a host of excellent people who make life wretched for themselves because of unbounded belief in a personal foe.

Now, be there a personal devil and a personal God, or not, there is certainly no personal foe in the flesh. The case is ever and always a much greater power and force than one puny, insignificant flesh and blood "enemy."

There are those who are miserable if they happen to see their supposed "enemy" in assembly or social gathering. They are full of anxiety and foreboding if they happen to encounter their "enemy" on the highway or in travel by train, trolley or boat in the same direction. They connect up one appearance with another, one look with another, one situation with another, until they have built up as they think a circumstantial evidence with the verdict "my enemy hath done this."

When it is no such a thing. The one poor, worthless personality and influence cannot begin to measure up to your own. Even granting an implacable foe, the world soon learns to watch the game and soon sides with and relieves the victim. But there really is no personal foe any more except in the story books. The "victim" is the stronger and the "enemy" enjoys but brief triumph. Drop for once and all the idea that an "enemy" has done this. If you brood over such idea your whole life will be wrecked. No matter if you may not at present be able to understand why the "set-back" the ill-luck, the unkind cut or rebuff has happened, drop the idea that an "enemy" is back of it. You are greater than your "enemy" in the flesh any day in the year, or if not, why not? Never waste a single precious bit of strength or intelligence in the bitter reflections over against a personal enemy. Be greater than a single personality bent on mischief.

No, the "enemy" which leads mankind a dance is a much greater force than one feeble little human personality. The "enemy," so-called, is the conditions of the times, the influences as a result, the tendencies, or the needs and emergencies of the hour. Sometimes the "enemy" is the dictates of party or educational or church power. Sometimes the "enemy" is a friend in disguise leading on to triumphant destiny. Never blame one puny personality.

THE BOY FARRAGUT.

By Ferdinand Inglehart, D. D. LLD.

Formerly, the age of admission to our navy, was much lower than it is at present, and thus it chanced that in 1813, young Farragut, although but thirteen years of age, found himself a midshipman, on board the man-of-war, Essex, commanded by Captain Porter.

Early in the following year, while the Essex lay in the neutral harbor of Valparaiso, she was attacked by the two British frigates, Phoebe and Cherub, either of which was her superior in strength.

Porter, however, had no idea of surrendering, and fought his ship with the greatest heroism, suffering terible loss of life, resulting finally in the Essex becoming a helpless wreck. The carnage was frightful; men dead and dying cumbered the decks while the very cockpit ran blood. But through all this terrible scene, while cannon shot was rushing by, or sending masts and splinters flying around his head; while men were falling fast around him, the boy, Farragut, stood amid his guns; the only officer alive.

There at his post, the mere child remained to the end; the blood flowing from his own tender side; but above the roar of the combat rising over the sound of shrieking shell, was regularly heard his shrill childish treble voice, as he calmly transmitted the orders of his commander.

Naval history furnishes few sublimer pictures than that presented by this undaunted lad, whose sense might well have appalled a veteran to the trade.

In the battle of life, there have been some boys and girls who have been heroic soldiers standing at the post of duty, fighting valiantly for the establishment of the Kingdom of God.

MRS CLEVELAND BRINGS SON.

Glad to Be Home; There's Nothing Like This Country, She Says.

Mrs. Grover Cleveland returned on the Adriatic yesterday afternoon with her sons, Richard Folsom Cleveland, who has been grounding himself in French at Lausanne for a year, and Francis Grover Cleveland. Miss Rose Elizabeth Cleveland, educator and writer, sister of the late President, accompanied them.

"I'm glad to be back home," said Mrs. Cleveland. "For there is nothing in all the world like this country; now, is there?"

A good-looking young reporter stepped up to Mrs. Cleveland and introduced himself as one who had presented her with a bouquet of roses in the streets of Omaha while she was riding through the city with her husband.

"Why, of course, I remember," said Mrs. Cleveland, "and are you the guilty man? Then, since you were so good as to give me the roses then, you will be careful about your flowery writings now, won't you?"

Both Mrs. Cleveland and Miss Cleveland had been most exact in itemizing their foreign purchases for the customs, and as a result they were kept on the pier more than an hour.

Miss Cleveland has been for a year chiefly in Italy doing a little literary work, and she is going back. She said to the reporters: "I have already made one declaration. It was not a declaration of love. There are too many applicants."

"I had a fine time and enjoyed myself, but I am glad to get back," said Richard Cleveland.

Why Not Have a Township "Boosting" Club.

"Observer" in a recent issue of Wallace's Farmer makes a suggestion that we were ourselves just on the point of presenting. He says:

"We can well learn some useful lessons in 'boosting' from our city cousins. Why should there not be booster clubs in the country? A township organization of this sort that would meet say once a month to consider things of general interest to the township could in a short time stir up a community interest that would do a great deal for that township. It would soon become known as the best township in the county. The schools would be improved, the roads would be better, the farms would be better improved, there would be more social life, land would increase in value, and everybody would benefit. It would be a fine thing if the country could catch the 'boosting' fever that is now found in every live Western city."

Why shouldn't your local Farmers' Union set about bringing these things to pass! Or perhaps it may be well to have an entirely distinct organization. In any case, either through the Union or some other agency, farmers in every county should set to work to get (1) better public schools, (2) some improvement in the roads, and (3) the services of a county superintendent of schools and a county superintendent of health. There are many other things they may work for, but these are good to begin on. If you get good schools, good roads, and good health conditions, you have the foundation right.

Then with township clubs organized, the next step should be to develop healthy competition at a county fair. Let some special recognition be given the township that has done most for its roads; the one that has done most for its schools; the one where the greatest proportion of farmers have painted their houses; the one where the greatest proportion of farmers use two-horse plows; the one where the most gasoline engines have been introduced, etc., etc. A banner might be provided for the winner in each case.

Certainly, let us organize these township boosting associations. Call yours the "Jones Township Betterment Club," or "Progressive League," or the "Smith County Development Club," or anything of the kind.

The towns have found the value of organization, now the country must also.

And we must remember that the towns have accomplished things without waiting for every other town to organize and co-operate with them. That has been one weakness of our farmers' organizations; they have depended too much upon gigantic results to be obtained by getting "all the farmers of the South—or of America—united in one solid phalanx," as the orators and politicians have said, and have neglected the golden opportunities that each local society might have realized upon in building up its own township or county. It's all right to get the great general organization, but meanwhile let's not neglect the other opportunities.

Speak to your neighbors and see what you can do in your township.—Progressive Farmer.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. Doings of a Day in Municipal Court

Municipal court "came back" yesterday but with a rather slim docket of only two cases. N. B. Dicks, the old white man arrested for being drunk and disorderly, appeared in court to answer also the charge of assaulting his wife while intoxicated. The man is an old offender and presented his usual pitiful plea for defence, being accompanied to court by some of his offspring, who are very efficient aids to the old man in these times of trouble. However, judgment was only recently suspended upon the old man for the same offence and in the opinion of Judge Eure the combination of drunkenness and cruelty was a sufficient misdemeanor to subject the prisoner to a sentence. Accordingly the suspended judgment was passed and thirty days in the workhouse for both the former and present offences will keep the old man away from tempting liquid for at least a couple of months.

Dock Brower, a small but incorrigible negro boy, was convicted of the larceny of various articles, including even lumber and bricks. The boy had already received several sentences and now looks upon the workhouse as a home and is extremely unhappy when forced to depart therefrom for even a short period of time. For the next six months he will be back at his customary stand and his mischief will be confined to the limits of the workhouse grounds.

As things seemed to be growing unpleasantly quiet around police headquarters the officers were forced to stir up some amusement for themselves and this morning raided several houses of ill repute. As a consequence four women and a man, all white, were arrested. Bertha Gibson, Annie Brown and John Ingram promptly put up the required bond of $50 for their appearance in court Tuesday morning. On account of a lack of funds Florence Hanks and Minnie Williams are languishing in the city jail and will also appear at that session of court.

F. S. Rexford, 615 New York Life Bldg., Kansas City, Mo., says: "I had a severe attack of cold which settled in my back and kidneys and I was in great pain from my trouble. A friend recommended Foley Kidney Pills and I used two bottles of them and they have done me a world of good." For sale by Howard Gardner.

THE POWER OF STEAM.

Many May See But It Takes Genius to Realize.

When James Watt saw the steam causing the kettle lid to jump up and down he said "There must be power in that steam that it can lift such a weight."

There was.

Millions prior to him had seen the same phenomenon and regarded it as an unexplained mystery.

Recent scientific research has put the finger on the "cause" of Dandruff, Falling Hair, and consequent Baldness, and has unearthed a tiny germ which eats the life from the roots of human hair.

DRINK QUESTION IN ENGLAND

President of Board of Education Tells of Good Work Done by Temperance Syllabus.

The president of the board of education (England), Mr. Runciman, speaking recently on the temperance syllabus issued by the board, said:

Already nearly 250 local authorities out of 350 had adopted the syllabus. There ought to be no part of the country where the work based on that syllabus was not being conducted, either voluntarily or by the teachers.

No class of the community in the United Kingdom were more alive to the evils of insobriety than the teachers in the schools. They saw it face to face every day, and they had the worst possible examples of the harm done by insobriety brought into the schools. They knew perfectly well nothing was to be made of the coming generations unless they were brought up to hate all forms of strong drink. He was of opinion that no teaching in their elementary schools could be done by outsiders as well as by the teachers themselves. But they had to fill up the gaps and provide the driving power, and that was where the Band of Hope Union came in as regarded the elementary schools.

Dealing with the progress which temperance had made during the last 20 years, Mr. Runciman pointed out that public houses had very largely ceased to be the meeting places of people who hired employes. Friendly societies and trade unions were also, to a large extent, forsaking the public house for meeting purposes.

As to the decline per head in the consumption of alcoholic liquors, the figures published year by year showed that it was not an accidental decline, but the tendency downward was to some extent the result of the work that had been done amongst the young 30 or 40 years ago.

Touching upon the old controversy that men could not be made sober by act of parliament, Mr. Runciman said everybody knew that if the government legislated too far ahead of public opinion they ran two great risks, first of evasion, and secondly of rebound. He quite agreed that they could not make people sober by act of parliament, but they could help them to be sober. That was one of the things the government had been trying to do in recent years.

The fall in the consumption of intoxicating liquors had also been contributed to during the last twelve months by the heavy taxation on whisky. He did not regret that. He quite agreed somebody must have suffered, but he did not think it had been the nation as a whole. They could not have taxation without throwing burdens on someone, and he knew no trade which could better bear the burden of taxation than that which made profits out of strong drink.

In conclusion, Mr. Runciman said that they might well ask the reason why in a great country like ours, which professes to be really democratic, things which were good for the nation should be impeded by the enormous influence of the public house. Parliaments assembled and did what they could in the way of social reform, but if at the back of it all elections might be turned and public opinion distorted by public house influences, it was impossible for the democracy to reach either its highest efficiency or its best ideals.

A Swedish Expert on Drink.

Seved Ribbing, the famous professor of medicine at the Swedish university, of Lund, makes these remarkable statements in concluding an address on one phase of the drink curse:

"How large a per cent of moral downfalls are caused through drink I am unable to say, but certainly it is not infrequent that you hear from many a questioned youth for an answer. 'I was somewhat under the influence of liquor.' Through drunkenness and in drunkenness one accustoms himself to conditions which, under ordinary circumstances, would be religiously shunned. In course of time the sense of shame is overcome, and silenced, and the evil habits are looked upon as an every-day necessity. The cases when a young man will in cold-bloodedness and with a clear head, and with decided intention, throw himself into the arms of prostitution are very seldom in comparison with those that happen under the influence of liquor. A British army physician has shown figuratively that sickness in a troop is much less among the total abstainers than with the balance of the men."

Alcohol Is Poison Principle.

Alcohol is the poison principle in all liquors produced by distillation or fermentation. To say that a drink is "intoxicating" is to say that its essential note or qua is poison—"toxicum"—and its consumption ultimates in death, though use in small quantities may comport with apparent health and long continued life. This does not militate against the fact that alcohol, if not lethal in immediate result, is a narcotic, affecting the organ of the mind.

Lincoln on Liquor.

Abraham Lincoln, in speaking of the liquor traffic, once said:

"The liquor traffic is a cancer in society, eating out its vitals and threatening destruction, and all attempts to regulate it will not only prove abortive, but will aggravate the evil. There must be no attempt to regulate the cancer. It must be eradicated. Not a root must be left behind."

Test Value of Alcohol.

The British authorities some time ago made a test of the alleged value of alcohol when men are subjected to unusual and exhausting labor. Experiments mere made at different times and under varying conditions with three regiments from each of several brigades. In one every man was forbidden to drink any alcohol whatever while the test lasted; in the second, malt liquor only was taken; in the third, a ration of whisky was given to each man. The whisky-drinkers manifested more dash at first, but generally in about four days showed signs of weakness and fatigue; those given malt liquor displayed less dash at first, but their endurance lasted somewhat longer; while the abstainers improved daily in alertness and staying powers. In the German army experiments are being made with sugar, which is claimed to have such great sustaining powers that it is proposed to serve it as an extra ration when unusual fatigues are to be borne.—Medical Record.

BAR ASSOCIATION MEETS AT TOXAWAY

Hendersonville, June 10.—One of the most pleasant occasions of the summer season is the gathering of the members of the North Carolina Bar Association in annual session. This year the meeting is to be held at Toxaway Inn, Lake Toxaway, June 28, 29 and 30. The program as arranged has a number of delightful features.

BOLT KILLS 16 STEERS.

York, Pa., June 10.—A single bolt of lightning in a heavy electrical storm in Southern county, killed 16 head of steers on the farm of H. Clay Whiteford, near Delta.

The animals had huddeld under a tree for shelter and were found lying dead as though each had been struck with a hammer, there being no marks of injury upon their bodies.

In the same storm lightning struck a tree near the stable at Prospect, in which Joseph Pyle kept his horse. After the storm the horse was found dead.

WORKS IN GARDEN AT 99.

Massachusetts Woman Celebrates Birthday Strenuously.

Pittsfield, Mass., June 10.—Mrs. Eliza Van Bramer celebrated her ninety-ninth birthday today by working for two hours in her flower garden and reading the daily newspapers without spectacles.

She walks without a cane and is as spry as a woman of 50 years. Mrs. Van Bramer is a native of Westerlo, Albany county, New York.

A Clever Woman.

"She will be a clever woman that I marry!" declared a confirmed bachelor, who was being chaffed on the subject.

"Thought you didn't like these clever women," said a friend.

"I don't," rejoined the bachelor. "But if I ever marry, it'll be a clever woman who does it."

AD WOLGAST IS REAL CHAMPION

Recent Battles Prove He Is Tough Nut to Crack.

MORAN HIS NEXT OPPONENT.

Little Englishman Is Scheduled to Meet the Title Holder In Twenty Round Bout In Frisco July 4—Battle Should Be a Warm One.

Ad Wolgast's impressive victory over Frankie Burns in San Francisco recently strengthens the general belief that he is the real lightweight champion of the world. Burns, a fairly clever, game boy, put up a desperate fight, but was outclassed and received a terrible beating. In this bout Wolgast showed better skill and form than ever before. He took many dangerous punches on the jaw and at one time dropped to his knees, only to keep on hammering until his antagonist was helpless.

This victory, following the stopping of "One Round" Hogan in two rounds in New York and the defeat of George Memsic and Anton La Grave in California, has increased Wolgast's reputation and has convinced many ring experts that he is not a counterfeit title holder or "cheese champion," as the disappointed Battling Nelson nicknamed him a year ago.

Wolgast has proved conclusively that he can take punishment and can hit. He is not a fancy dancing master, but a rough, strong rusher who is constantly trying to put over a knockout blow. It is apparent now that the lightweight champion wasn't at his best when he shaped up with K. O. Brown in Philadelphia and in New York. Wolgast in those bouts did not show the aggressiveness that since has materialized.

It is possible that he was afraid to take chances with his left arm, which had been broken, and, furthermore, his rather poor showing may have been due to rustiness caused by a long lay off. But Wolgast was another man in his most recent fight, and when Burns' second had thrown up a towel hundreds of spectators declared that the champion was the best lightweight on top of the earth.

This opinion probably grated on the nerves of Owen Moran, the English boxer, who sat within a few feet of the ropes and watched Wolgast like a hawk. Moran and Wolgast are matched to fight twenty rounds in the same ring on July 4, and in the opinion of good judges Wolgast will have the hardest battle of his career. Moran is not only a first class boxer, but he is a rugged fighter with unlimited grit, a hard punch in either hand and much experience. He knocked Nelson out in eleven rounds last fall and promptly challenged Wolgast, but the latter avoided the making of a match for several months until public opinion forced him to acknowledge the sturdy Briton.

Moran boxed six rounds with Wolgast in New York several years ago and outpointed him so easily that the spectators held their sides and laughed. That is why Moran believes that Wolgast will be an easy mark. But Moran may learn that Wolgast is a far different proposition this time, though it is readily conceded that Moran on past performances has a royal chance to win.

How to Stop Heavy Batting.

If this howl against free hitting goes on suggestions like the following will be in order:

Allow the pitcher to stand eight inches from the home plate when he delivers the ball.

Make the batters swing with hatpins.

Blindfold men like Cobb, Mitchell, Bates, Lajoie, Crawford, Schulte, Collins and Speaker.

Call batsmen out on one strike.

Give batsman his base on a dozen balls.

Make the teams play on a twenty-runs-or-no-count basis.

Cut out singles and two baggers. If a batter can't get as far as third base on his hit disqualify him.

Count swats over the fence as sacrifice hits.

Cornell Queen of College Waters.

Cornell is queen of the college waters. Besides defeating Harvard, Yale and Pennsylvania in two mile races, the Cornellians won the junior eight oared event at the American Henley, Philadelphia.

COMING SPORT EVENTS

The annual meeting of the National Power Boat association will be held in Detroit on Aug. 4.

America will not get the Olympic meet of 1916. The international committee gave the event to Berlin.

The individual championship will be at stake in the tournament to be given by the Golf Association of Philadelphia on June 3, 7, 8 and 10.

Athletes representing twelve colleges will compete in the Intercollegiate Swimming association championships at Travers island, New York, on June 17. The original date was set for some time in July, but was later changed to suit the colleges.

GIVING away millions is not the only means of enjoying himself that Andrew Carnegie has. For instance, in the picture above he is seen to be having a really good time. The picture was made in Central park, New York's great pleasure ground, when many thousand children were enjoying themselves while affording enjoyment to their elders. Mrs. Carnegie was with the Scotch philanthropist, and she enjoyed the afternoon fully as much as her husband did. This is one of the best photographs of Mrs. Carnegie that has ever been made.

The Wrong Number.

Patrick, lately over, was working in the yards of a railroad. One day he happened to be in the yard office when the force was out. The telephone rang very vigorously several times, and he at last decided it ought to be answered. He walked over to the instrument, took down the receiver, and put his mouth to the instrument, just as he had seen others do.

"Hillo!" he cried.

"Hello!" answered the voice at the other end of the line. "Is this eight-six-one-five-nine?"

"Aw, g'wan! Phwat d'ye think oi am—a box car?"

One J. P. Morgan Tells.

To illustrate Yankee persistency, J. Pierpont Morgan told the following story the other day:

"A New England Yankee, who was a prisoner on a pirate ship," said Mr. Morgan, "in the good old days when pirates roamed the seas, became, because of his Yankee attributes, objectionable to his captors.

"It was finally decided to maroon him on a desert island, with but little food, and coffin to remind him of his inevitable fate. The island was found and the New Englander and coffin were left alone on the beach while the pirate ship sailed away.

"For several days she sailed and then became becalmed. For three days she laid there with not a breath of air. On the evening of the third day a black speck was noticed on the horizon. It steadily grew larger, and soon was close enough for the men on the ship to make out what it was."

The man of millions paused for an instant and then said, smilingly: "It was the Yankee in his coffin, with half of the lid in either hand, rowing for home."

A New Kind.

"Naggs had the other day what might be called a homogeneous misfortune."

"What sort of a one might that be?"

"Well, his catboat was caught in a sea puss."

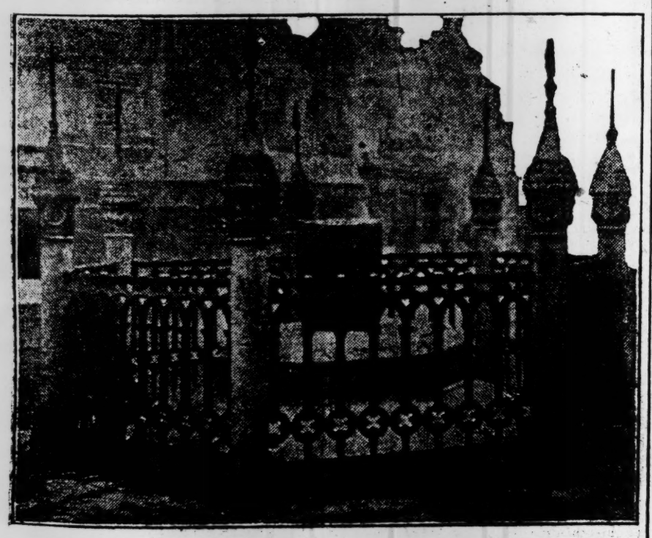
King's Stone at Kingston



In the English city of Kingston there stands, surrounded by a protecting railing, the object from which the town derives its name. This is the "King's Stone," a piece of rock which served as the throne at the coronation of all the early Saxon kings. It is a most carefully preserved relic, and is of especial interest in this, the year of King George's coronation.

NO TRUTH IN THE REPORT THAT LEAGUE IS GOING TO PIECES

Very little has been said by The Telegram with regard to the reports emanating from Charlotte a few days ago that the league was about to go to the wall, for the reason that we felt that the public generally was acquainted with the fact that it all came from the desire of Charlotte to get into another league, together with the sore spot the people there have over a losing team. That this was the truth has since been shown.

When local papers accepted the statement that Charlotte's attendance was about 350, it was supposed that the papers of that boasting city had reported the attendance correctly. Now it seems that President Wearn's figures and Secretary Todd's are widely at variance. When the other papers of the circuit took up what the Queen City papers was saying and compared attendance in their towns with what Charlotte was saying it was doing, the Observer man ran to Mr. Todd and they framed up some figures to prove that Charlotte is the whole works.

The following item authorized by President Wearn and sent to Sporting Life, via Greenville, S. C., is a sample of what the Charlotte crowd have resorted to in an effort to break up this league and get into "higher company":

"President J. H. Wearn, of the Carolina Association, announced last night that unless the attendance on the ball games around the circuit improved considerably, the league could not last over two weeks. And unofficially it is rumored that it will go to the bad within a week's time. Charlotte, the headquarters of the League, has generally come about even, but with a losing team the attendance has dropped to about 300 from an average of about 950. Anderson draws such a small crowd at home that their team has gone on the road for 12 days. It is understood that Charlotte is negotiating with Augusta for her franchise in the event that the Carolina Association goes to pieces within the next week or so. This fact is not definite, but seems probable."

This statement was sent out from Charlotte at a time when the average attendance in the league was the largest it has ever been at a time when Charlotte's attendance was bigger than ever before, and when the league had a smaller salary limit than heretofore. Gentlemen of the jury, take the case.

GREENVILLE TAKES LAST OF SERIES FROM THE HORNETS

Greenville, S. C., June 10.—With 3 men struck out by Cashion, the locals hitting opportunely for extra bases and the visitor's errors frequent, Greenville won the game 10 to 5. Wild pitches and passed balls following a base on balls in the first gave the visitors one run. Manager Dick Smith, for the locals, got a home run, a triple, a single out of three times up. Outfielder Doak and Cashion each made a single and three bagger. Outfielder Hankie, for Charlotte got a home run with none on.

Charged With Assault.

Cyrus Bates, colored, was knocked in the head by J. R. Gustavro, the white man who conducts a shooting gallery in the Clegg block last night about 11 o'clock.

The real cause of the assault will be thrashed out in Municipal court Monday morning, as a bond of $50 was promptly furnished for the assailant by W. F. Clegg, his employer. Neither the bondsman nor prisoner made any statement as to the provocation given for the attack but it seems that amidst a general volley of cursing, Gustavro considered himself insulted and struck Bates with a heavy iron.

INTRA-COASTAL WATERWAY DISCUSSED AT WILMINGTON

Wilmington Thinks Route Should be Via That City—Railroad to Southport May be Completed by July 4th—Charlotte Newspaper Man Goes to Star.

Wilmington, June 10.—A hearing was held at noon today in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce before the board of officers of the intra-coastal waterway survey for the purpose of finally deciding upon the route of the proposed inland waterway along this important coast. The hearing was held at the request of Mr. Jas. H. Chadbourn, president of the North Carolina Waterways Association, which is of the opinion that the public interest will be much better served by the adoption of the via Wilmington route for the proposed waterway. The board of engineers for the location of the inland water route is composed of the United States Engineers in charge of the several districts through which the waterway will pass, Col. Dan C. Kingman, of Savannah, Ga., being senior member and chairman, and other members being Capt. Earl I. Brown, of Wilmington; Capt. Geo. R. Spaulding, Jacksonville; Capt. E. M. Adams, Charleston. Some time ago there was a rumor that the report of the engineer would be in favor of what is called the "sound route," that is, a canalization of the sounds via Wrightsville Beach to a point opposite Carolina Beach, thence across the point to the Cape Fear river. Wilmington business men and others acquainted with the requirements of the commerce through the proposed waterway are strongly of the opinion that the route should be by Wilmington and thence down the Cape Fear river to Southport, where a magnificent landlocked harbor is available for anchorage before proceeding southward, if it should be thus desired.

Work is progressing very rapidly on the Wilmington, Brunswick & Southport Railroad, which is to give Southport railroad connections with the outside world, and it is planned to celebrate the completion of the road on July 4th. The grading is completed to very near the city limits of Southport, where track is being laid at the rate of one half mile a day by a large force of hands just beyond Bolivia.

Mr. H. R. Aiken, formerly telegraph editor of the Charlotte Observer, has acepted a position on the reportorial staff of the Morning Star and has already entered upon his duties. Mr. Wm. E. Lawson is city editor of The Star and Mr. Aiken will be in his department.

STEPHENSON NEARS THE RACK

Senate Can Hardly Refuse to Investigate His Election.

Washington, D. C., June 10.—The probability that Senator Isaac Stephenson, of Wisconsin, must undergo an investigation, attracted attention this afternoon. The Wisconsin Senate has adopted a resolution requesting the United States Senate to investigate charges of bribery or corruption in connection with his election. The new Lorimer inquiry is based entirely on the request of the Illinois State Senate and it would be impossible to refuse a similar request from the Wisconsin Senate.

In offering Senator Stephenson's credentiols, his colleague, Senator LaFollette, intimated that later he might have occasion to protest against the election. During the former debate Senator La Follette said Edward C. Hibes and representatives of the Lumber Trust had employed the same methods in Wisconsin as those utilized in the election of Lorimer.

He Left Them.

A fussy, pompous, portly gentleman, after paying his hotel bill, was on the point of departing in a cab to catch a train, when he called one of his hall attendants.

"I want you," he said, "to go upstairs and see if I left my tooth brush and comb in my room. Tooth brush and comb, tooth brush, tooth brush, tooth brush! Don't forget what I want, and hurry, too! Got to catch my train!"

"Yes sir," replied the attendant.

The pompous man hung about impatiently watching the clock. Only two minutes to spare! Just as he caught his valise to depart the emissary came running across the hall.

"Yes, sir," he cried eagerly, "you left them there!"

The departing guest gazed at his empty-handed emissary. His lips moved but no words came forth. Then, with an inarticulate snarl, he stepped into the waiting cab.

DOOR OPEN TO ALIEN ARMY.

Mexican Force Can Travel Unarmed Over Our Soil.

Washington, D. C., June 10.—Mexican soldiers will be allowed to travel across American territory to Lower California to reach rebel forces. The State Department has given its consent to this operation, with the stipulation that the troops shall not carry arms, but that the arms may be carried in sealed baggage cars until the party reaches its destination on the boundary line near San Diego, Cal.

Precedent for this action is found in the permission granted to the Federal forces early in the last revolution to send a body of men across the same route to protect the great dyke connected with the Imperial Valley irrigation works.

In view of the report that doubt has been cast upon the loyalty of the Federal troops in Chihuahua, it is believed that the Mexican Government will send troops from Hermosillo into Lower California, the point of attack being the town of Tijuana, where General Pryce's small force is holding out.

Uncle Sam's Greatest Fighting Craft, the Wyoming, Launched

Photos by American Press Association.

TWELVE thousand persons cheered as the Wyoming, Uncle Sam's greatest fighting ship, slipped from the ways into the Delaware river at Philadelphia after Miss Dorothy E. Knight had smashed a bottle of champagne against the steel prow that is destined to plow the waters of the world. The launching was in every way successful. Hundreds of barrels of tallow had been spread upon the ways, and when the props were knocked from under the vessel she glided calmly down into the waves, her momentum carrying her across the river, from which tugs brought her back to Cramps' shipyard for the finishing touches to be done to her. This work will take at least a year, and then the Wyoming will become the most powerful vessel in the United States navy and the equal of anything the world can boast. The Wyoming will carry twelve twelve-inch guns as her main battery, with a secondary battery of twenty-one five-inch rapid fire guns and ten machine guns. There will also be two submerged torpedo tubes. The vessel is 554 feet long on the load line, her length over all being 562 feet. Her breadth is a trifle over ninety-three feet, her mean draft is twenty-eight feet six inches, and her contract speed is twenty and a half knots. Her side armor will be ten inches thick, with a thickness of twelve inches on exposed points. The pictures show the Wyoming leaving the ways, Miss Knight, the sponsor, and Governor Joseph M. Carey of Wyoming, with his sister on his right and his wife on his left, between him and Miss Knight.

OVERWHELMED BY LOCUSTS.

Physician in Automobile Cornered and Severely Stung.

Woodbury, N. J., June 10.—Dr. H. H. Clark, of this city, came near being eaten alive by locusts today. Having a call out on the Fairview road, he took a short cut through Almonesson. As he drew near the head of the lake in his automobile he heard what he thought was a locomotive whistle, but, knowing there was no railroad there, he stopped his machine, and found the noise was made by locusts. Driving on, the doctor came into the thickest of the millions of the insects, which flew on him until he was covered. He says inside of a moment fully 1000 had alighted on him, and his machine was covered They bit him about the face, and even through his gloves on his hands.

Stopping his machine again, the doctor attempted to shake the locusts off, but they wouldn't shake, and for a moment he was in a quandary. Finally, he started his machine, and ground the insects by the hundreds, and this made the car skid some. He finally got out of the dilemma and rushed on to his call, but he did not return that way.

THE MOVEMENT FOR ORGANIC UNION OF METHODIST BODIES

Definite Steps Being Taken in That Direction by Methodists North And South And Methodists Protestants—Other Church News.

Special to The Telegram.

By D. V. FRANCIS.

New York, June 10.—Methodists, the large Northern body, are to have a supreme court. It will be known as the Final Court of Appeals. Its membership will be fifteen, three bishops and six each of ministers and laymen. Members are to be chosen by the General Conference, the bishops to serve four years, or between General Conference sessions, the others four and eight years. Co-ordinated with this new highest court will be others for members, local preachers, and ministers. Methodists find the General Conference, meeting every four years, to be both too large and too much burdened with other work to sit as a court. They reason, besides, that the same body that makes the laws ought not to construe them, so the new and highest court will have as its chief function the interpretation of Methodist enactments. A commission has just made a report on this matter of courts, and it is considered certain that its report will be approved and the courts established by the next General Conference, meeting in May, 1912.

Presbyterians recently perfected their judicial system; so did Episcopalians. Other large Protestant bodies are either doing so or are studying the question, because they realize the time to be approaching when they must have such courts.

Definite steps are now being taken to bring into one organization Methodists North, Methodists South, and Methodist Protestants. Sessions of committees representing all of them have just been held at Chattanooga and an address issued to Methodists of America stating that progress is making toward organic union.

The Chattanooga sessions were adjourned ones. Some held earlier at Baltimore and Cincinnati talked simply of federation, but so strong was the feeling for union that the federal idea was abandoned. The Chattanooga meeting proved that organic union is possible. Difficulties in the way are confined to history and tradition and are said not at all to reach to doctrine or ritual. A report is preparing to submit to the General Conferences, the details of which are not made public. Meanwhile suggestions are asked for from Methodists, and it is possible that further sessions may be called. A strong argument made in favor of organic union is that it will serve to pave the way for other unions.

According to the prospectus for the seventh season of the tent, open air and shop campaign, just issued by the evangelistic committee of New York City, the summer work will begin on Sunday, June 18, and conclude Sunday, September 10. Tents will probably be erected in twenty centers, eight for English, seven Italian, one German, two Bohemian-Slovak, one Finnish-Swedish and one for negroes; shop meetings are planned for thirty-five centers, twenty English, ten Spanish and five Italian, and forty-eight open air centers, thirty-five English, six Italian, one Hungarian, one Bohemian, one German and four negroes.

The work is interdenominational and is supported by voluntary contributions.

An innovation worth noting has just been made by the Diocese of Chicago, which on Wednesday last at the annual convention held in the Cathedral of St. Peter and Paul amended its constitution and canons so as to give women members of the church the right of voting on church matters. Heretofore the franchise has been limited to "male communicants of full age." Now women can vote for wardens and vestrymen and on all church questions.

The General Synod of the Reformed Church, meeting at Asbury Park early next month, will consider a new constitution and the adoption of a plan for a smaller body, the aim being less expense, and greater expedition in business. In missions last year the domestic gifts increased by $26,000 and the foreign by $30,000, of which about half came from churches and individuals, indicating larger results from new interests of laymen. The women fell behind last year $6,000. This church, the Dutch branch of the Reformed body, recently turned over to the Presbyterian church six congregations in Oklahoma, with property worth $50,000 because it felt the latter better able to prosecute work in the Southwest. Four of the six congregations became part of the Presbyterian church South and two of that North.

JUNE WEDDINGS CENTER SPOTLIGHT IN WILMINGTON

Wilmington, June 10.—This has been a week of marriages in Wilmington, several nuptials having been celebrated. On Tuesday afternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene V. McKenzie, No. 804 Dock street, their charming daughter, Miss Lena Gertrude McKenzie, became the bride of Mr. James Lonnie Peck, formerly of Salisbury, but now of this city, where he holds a position in the general offices of the Atlantic Coast Line. The home was very prettily decorated for the happy event. The bride was attended by her maid of honor, Miss Bessie Penny, while the groom was accompanied by his best man, Mr. Kenneth McKenzie, brother of the bride. The ceremony was celebrated by Rev. W. L. Rexford, pastor of Bladen street Methodist Church, and there were present a number of friends of the couple. A reception followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Peck left on the afternoon train for Atlantic City, N. J., where they will spend a couple of weeks, after which they will return to this city, where they will reside.

Another pretty wedding was celebrated on Wednesday, when Miss Katie May Yopp, popular and attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Freeman Yopp, became the bride of Mr. Leo Calvin Lacy, Rev. Father C. Dennen, rector of St. Thomas' Church, performing the ceremony, at the home of the parents of the bride, No. 212 Saint James Square. To the strains of Lohegrin's Bridal Chorus, rendered by Mrs. W. T. Mercer, the bridal party entered the parlor, where the ceremony took place at the beautiful improvised altar, most attractively decorated with palms and ferns. The dame of honor was Mrs. Fred David, of Bennetsville, S. C.; Miss Annie Lacy, of Raleigh, sister of the groom, was maid of honor. Following the ceremony there was a brief reception. Mr. and Mrs. Lacy left on the evening train for a bridal tour to points in the North. Among the out-of-town guests here for the event were: Mrs. H. C. Lacy and Miss Annie C. Lacy, of Raleigh, mother and sister, respectively of the groom; Mr. E. V. Richards, of Bennettsville, S. C.; Mrs. Fred David, of Bennettsville; Misses Margaret and Louise Richards, Bennettsville.

Wednesday there was another marriage of much interest when Miss Lessie Mae Stewart, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Stewart, of Jonesboro, and Mr. Hallie B. Hazlett, of this city, plighted their troth. The ceremony was performed Wednesday evening at the mass of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church by Rev. Dr. A. D. McLure in the presence of only a few friends of the couple. It was a rather romantic affair and the announcement of the marriage came as a surprise to the friends of the couple. It was a case of love at first sight. They have known each other only two or three weeks, having met in this city. The groom lived in this city for some time, but the bride came here only recently to take a position as operator in the local office of the Western Union Telegraph Co.

Still another marriage on Wednesday was that of Miss Gussie Padgett, the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Padgett, of this city, and Mr. George Dempsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Dempsey, of Wrightsboro, Rev. Dr. A. D. McClure performing the ceremony which took place at the pastor's study of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. Mr. Dempsey holds a position in the general offices of the Coast Line and both he and his bride are very popular with a wide circle of friends.

WOULD LEVY ON CANNON'S AUTO.

Socialist Congressman Wants it For His Committee.

Washington, June 10.—Representative Victor Berger, of Wisconsin, the sole Socialist in Congress, today caused a smile when he sought to levy on the official automobile of the Speaker of the House.

The big touring car, bought when Speaker Cannon presided over the House and which was used by him, has been ingloriously shelved in a garage, where it is accumulating dust and cobwebs. Speaker Clark has no love for automobiles and declines to use the car.

Mr. Berger has now offered a resolution to place the car at the disposal of the Committee on the District of Columbia, of which he is a member.

MORRISEY WENT UP IN THE FIFTH FRAME AND ANDERSON WON

Score in Yesterday's Contest Was Eight to Two—Stick Work of Visitors Feature of Contest—Rickard Does Fancy Twirling.

"Deacon" Morrisey lost his second game of the season yesterday, when he aeroplaned in the fifth inning, allowing six hits and six runs in the frame. The Andersonians tucked away the game and the rest of the afternoon was spent in watching Richard perform on the mound and the Patriots go out in one, two, three order.

The game started off well, though the "Deacon" was unsteady from the first. In the first frame Kelly and Corbett led off with singles. Morrisey worked himself out of this hole beautifully. With Kelly on third and Corbett on second, he fanned McCarthy, J. Kelly fouled out to Stuart and Fogarty was given a pass to first, filling the bases The side was retired on Yount's grounder to Doak; no runs made. The Patriots scored their only runs in this inning. Rickard's single came first and he was sacrificed by Doyle. Fuller hit a grounder down first bast line for three bases, scoring Rickard. Fuller scored when Clapp went out on a grounder to Dwyer.

In the second Brannon and Scanlon singled, each stealing second in turn, and scored on Corbett's single. The game rocked along in this way until the fifth, when Morrisey went up to the air. He walked the first man, allowed six hits, and had one error made behind. The net result was six runs for the Electricians.

In the sixth Rickard came to the knoll and performed facial gymnastics and did the twirling for the rest of the game. The game was featured by the heavy batting of Scanlon, Brannon, Corbett and the two Kellys for the visitors and Fuller's pretty triple for the locals.

DIAMOND DUST

Where They Play Tomorrow.

Greenville at Greensboro.
Charlotte at Spartanburg.
Winston-Salem at Anderson.

We are still on top.

The tail-enders are picking up.

The top-notchers had a crimp put in them.

It is refreshing to note the way in which the Musicians made it three straights.

Even Swindell cut no ice with that Spartanburg bunch when they got started after Clancy's men.

Dick Smith's aggregation of Spinners will arrive here tomorrow for two games with the Patriots.

There will be three shifts among the teams this week. Greensboro will be at home Monday and Tuesday, in Charlotte the next two days, and in Winston-Salem Friday and Saturday.

The best pitchers have their "off days" and yesterday was a bad one for the Deacon. The way those Electricians landed on him in the fifth was as bad as what Wolfe got in the first inning Thursday.

Spartanburg and Charlotte both have other material coming in to give new life to their teams. Anderson already has some new men on the team. What the three clubs have already been doing during the past week shows that they may not remain tail-enders very long, if the others continue to play loose ball.
